

Designated Entity Design Standards Charter Revisions and Final Report

Michael Herman
Transmission Planning
Planning Committee
February 8th, 2018

- The Designated Entity Design Standards Task Force (DEDSTF) has completed the required scope of work.
- PC endorsement of the Minimum Requirements document - 11/9/2017
- Remaining administrative items:
 - Final Report to Planning Committee (informational only)
 - Revisions to DEDSTF Charter (First Read)

- As required by PJM Manual 34, the PJM facilitator has documented the pertinent details of the task forces work activities in a final report.
- This report serves as final documentation from the task force, to its parent committee that the deliverables outlined in the Issue Charge and Problem Statement have been completed.
- Final report is posted to Planning Committee Meeting Materials as well as DEDSTF page
- Thank you to all stakeholders who supported 49 meetings over the past 2.5 years

- With the completion of the DEDSTF Work activities and the presentation of the final report, PJM is proposing revisions to the DEDSTF charter.
- Convert Task Force to Subcommittee to allow for biennial review
 - By definition, a task force has a finite end date, whereas a subcommittee can continue in perpetuity
- First Read of charter revisions, today. Very minor and solely administrative in nature

- PC First Read – 1/11/2018
- Request for PC Endorsement– 2/8/2018