

Consumers Energy remains concerned that the ability to transfer capacity from one RTO footprint to the other is limited. We suspect that more consistent use of CBM by the two RTOs would provide for higher reliability at a lower overall cost to customers. This is an important topic which we would like to see addressed at future JCMs.

M. Bryan Little
Director of Electric Transmission &
Market Regulations
Consumers Energy Company
517.788.1619