MOTION FOR LEAVE TO ANSWER AND LIMITED ANSWER OF PJM INTERCONNECTION, L.L.C.

In accordance with Rules 212 and 213 of the Rules of Practice and Procedure of the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission ("Commission"), PJM Interconnection, L.L.C. ("PJM") submits this limited Answer to the Answer of Affirmed Energy LLC ("Affirmed") filed on October 28, 2024.<sup>2</sup> To avoid repetition on matters that PJM has already addressed, this answer is limited to Affirmed's erroneous and inflammatory allegation that the PJM Board falsely misrepresented PJM's proposal related to the participation of energy efficiency in the capacity market.<sup>3</sup>

I. MOTION FOR LEAVE TO ANSWER

The Commission has discretion to accept responses to answers and has routinely done so for good cause shown where accepting the response would either lead to a more complete or accurate record, improve the Commission's understanding of the issues, clarify disputed or erroneous matters, or help the Commission in its decision-making.<sup>4</sup> Good cause exists for the Commission to accept this Answer because it corrects flawed statements made in various protests,

II. ANSWER

Affirmed contends that the proposed filing came as a surprise by pointing to letters from the PJM Board<sup>6</sup> that described PJM's proposal in the stakeholder process as one that does not remove energy efficiency from the capacity market.<sup>7</sup> What Affirmed conveniently neglects to convey, however, is that while the PJM Board accurately described the PJM package that was considered by stakeholders, the ultimate proposal that was endorsed by a sector-weighted super majority of PJM's stakeholders and filed with the Commission was the proposal originally advanced by the Independent Market Monitor for PJM ("Market Monitor"). In short, the PJM Board's response to Representative Sean Casten (D-IL) and others was accurate as it described the proposal that PJM advanced through the stakeholder discussions, which would have retained energy efficiency in the capacity market albeit in a modified form. The stakeholders' adoption of the Market Monitor's proposal was subsequent to the PJM Board's letter to Representative Casten. Affirmed conflates the time periods and two different proposals in painting an inaccurate picture at best.

As to the alleged "surprise," Affirmed also disingenuously omits the fact that in addition to the Market Monitor's consistent advocacy to remove Energy Efficiency Resources from the capacity market since at least 2017,<sup>8</sup> stakeholders considered and were on notice of the potential removal of Energy Efficiency Resources from the capacity market since at least the April 11, 2024 Market Implementation Committee meeting when the Market Monitor added its proposal to the options matrix.<sup>9</sup> Thus, while the PJM Board correctly described PJM's proposal in the stakeholder process as one that would have introduced various enhancements to the rules governing the participation of Energy Efficiency Resources in the capacity market (which Affirmed strenuously opposed during the stakeholder discussions), this instant section 205 proposal, which PJM also supports, simply reflects the general consensus of PJM's stakeholder to adopt the Market Monitor's proposal and encourage the continued adoption of energy efficiency projects outside of PJM's capacity market. That is, a supermajority of PJM stakeholders reasonably determined that including energy efficiency projects in the load forecast was a sufficient alternative to participation in the capacity auctions.

As previously noted, because the load forecast is a forward-looking projection of energy efficiency impacts, a reduced load forecast results in load paying for lower quantities of capacity as well as lower wholesale capacity market prices for the quantities that are procured. There are other and more significant financial benefits as well, including lower energy, transmission and distribution costs for end-use customers that install energy efficiency products. In short, energy efficiency has a greater impact on the overall cost to load as a demand reducer in the load forecast compared to its impact when treated as a source of supply in the capacity market.
